THE SUNNY SOUTH

Fifty Cents a Year Less Than a Penny a Number

THE SOUTH'S LITERARY WEEKLY

Published at Atlanta, Ga.

After a career of more or less activity in the Southern field for over a quarter of a century The Sunny South has again become a weekly, better and more readable than at any time in its history. It contains serial stories from the best known authors the world over. It is devoted to Southern readers and Southern writers and is their own story paper. Short stories, sketches, incidents of war and of peace, anecdotes at home and abroad, poems, ideas, fashions, hints for home keepers, everything of interest to old and young will appear in its excellent weekly make up.

The two great serials, "THE STRAM OF BENT," by ANTHONY HOPE (now in progress with full synopsis to cover former installments), and "Keweenaw's Lover," by Maurice Thompson, to begin April 27th, will be read with absorbing interest throughout the whole South. This is your opportunity, and only 50 cents for a full year of it. Think of it! 50 cents.

Subscription price is only fifty cents a year. No agents' commission. The paper is its own best offer and argument of the subscriber. One sample copy free to you and to your six neighbors whose names and addresses you send on a postal card, provided you send at once. A club of five at 50 cents each, accompanied by the full amount of 250 net to us, entitles the sender to The Sunny South a whole year free.

The Sunny South is your old friend in a new form, always improving, every issue to excel the last one. The South's literary paper is here at last. Order it to-day.

The Sunny South in combination with the greatest of all Southern Weekly Newspapers—The Atlanta Weekly Constitution—both for only $1.25 a year. Remit that amount to The Sunny South, and get these two great papers—One Literary; the other News.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

Whereas, Joseph B. Follett, now dead more than nine months, by his certain deed of trust dated the second day of October, 1899, and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County of Iron, Missouri, and ex-officio Recorder, within and for the County of Iron and State of Missouri, in Book 45 on page 388, conveyed to the undersigned trustee the following described lots, tracts or parcels of land in the County of Iron and State of Missouri, to wit:

All that part of lot number three (3) of the northwest quarter of section five (5) in township thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) east, acquired by Henry M. Jones from Girard Q. Berryman and wife by deed dated February 21st, 1880, and recorded in Iron County, Missouri, deed records in Book "J," page 390, and the description in said deed is thereby referred to and made a part of said deed; Also, the land acquired by Sheriff's deed recorded in Book "S," page 545 of said Iron County, Missouri, Deed Records, described as follows: being those parcels of land in lots three (3) and four (4) in the northeast quarter of section six (6) and of lot four (4) in section five (5) in township thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) east, contained in the following boundaries: (less so much thereof as was theretofore conveyed by P. H. Childers and wife to W. H. Wonderly)—Beginning at a stone on the northern line of lot four (4) in the northeast quarter of section six (6) in the middle of the County road, where it strikes the said northern line of lot four (4), thence 89 degrees East 29 chains and 18 links to a stone placed on said line at 123 chains East from the northeast corner of said lot four (4) and on lot four (5) of the northwest quarter of section five (5), thence south one-fourth degree West 41 chains and 20 links to a stone in Stout's Creek, thence along said creek to the dividing line, which divides sections five (5) and six (6) 12 chains and 92 links, thence 89 degrees West 20 chains and 3 links to a stone in said creek, thence north to the middle of a branch of Stout's creek, dividing the land of Dilts and Mason, thence north 12 degrees West with said branch to a stone in the County Road, thence North 58 degrees East to the place of beginning, being all the lands acquired by said Henry M. Jones by Sheriff's deed recorded in Book "S," page 545 above noted, except about one and three-quarter acres enclosed by Henry L. Kesling and held and claimed by him under right of possession: Also all that part of lot five (5) of the northeast quarter of section six (6) in township thirty-three (33) north, range four (4) east, acquired from T. R. Goulding and wife, dated March 6th, 1888, and bounded by survey as follows: Beginning at a point on the south side of the County road leading west from Ironton in said County 11 chains and 12 links, south 61 degrees West from a point on the south side of said road where the line between sections five (5) and six (6) crosses the said County road, thence south 28 degrees East at right angles to said road to line between lots four (4) and five (5) in northeast quarter of section six (6), thence west on said line to the southeast corner of land deeded to Robert Hill by T. R. Goulding and wife and D. E. Reagan and wife, thence on East line of said land to the south side of the said County road, thence north 61 degrees East 75 links to the place of beginning, being about one quarter of an acre, containing in the aggregate one hundred acres more or less; together with all and singular the dwelling houses, water towers, barns and other buildings, structures and improvements thereon. The lands there conveyed being known as the "Jones' farm," lying west of and almost adjoining the City of Ironton, Missouri, and being the same premises conveyed to Socrates Newman by Henry M. Jones and wife by deed dated June 7th, 1892, and recorded in the recorder's office of Iron County, Missouri, on June 11, 1892, in Book 39 at page 325;

BECAUSE.

Because I am My Love's I'll keep my life Washed clean of every soil in thought or deed;

And bear my heart with ever steadfast need, Like a shut rose, through days of dusty strife, And keep it for My Love with sweetest need.

Because I am My Love's I'll rise at dawn, And hasten to my toil, and toiling sing; That from my own poor talent there may spring

Something for My Love's eyes to smile upon, And so make good the empty years ago.

Because I am My Love's I will not die, As lovers might—to prove my fealty; I'll so live that, in some distant time My Love shall say, "Bless God who made you mine!"

ON THE SEA.

And Then in Old Castle.

DAMPFERS HOHENZOLLERN.

Sunday Aug. 25, 1901.

Dear Friends—We have been steadily traveling towards you since 9 P. M. Thursday, but shall soon land at Gibraltar to carry out our long cherished plan of a visit to Spain. Tangier is left for our return as the boats go over only every other day and it will be more convenient that way. Our eleven hour ride from Brindisi to Naples was made twelve by delays. There had been fine rains and the country looked in much better condition than when we went over it thirteen days earlier. There was no dust. We had a good breeze and as night fell we needed our jackets. We passed immense orchards of great sprawling fig trees. There was much ploughing and digging of the soil going on. The Naples Hotel Metropole et Ville is a good one. Our room had a balcony from which we looked out on the beautiful bay. It is beautiful but not like Greece. One should never go to Greece first, because anything we have seen is tame after. Still the Vesuvius Bay is an easy let down, and I trust we shall not be unappreciative of Spain. The Spanish coast has been visible all the morning but it is dimmed by mists which seriously threaten rain for our landing at Gibraltar. Yesterday we skirted the African coast for some distance and the day before that of Sardinia, though on each of those days we were out of sight of land for hours. I saw the light house in the night as we passed Cape de Gata. Most of the time the sea has been as smooth as one could wish, but it is getting a little rough now. We have been bareheaded and without jackets till this morning. The thermometer has gone down to 73° and it seems quite chilly as the wind strikes us. I have not noticed that the mercury stood above 87° on deck, but it was hot down stairs, especially when the wind was not from our side.

"The Best is the Cheapest."

Not how cheap, but how good, is the question.

The TWICE-A-WEEK REPUBLIC is not as cheap as are some so-called newspapers. But it is as cheap as it is possible to sell a first-class newspaper. It prints all the news that is worth printing. If you read it all the year round, you are posted on all the important and interesting affairs of the world. It is the best and most reliable newspaper that money and brains can produce—and those should be the distinguishing traits of the newspaper that is designed to be read by all members of the family.

Subscription price, $1 a year. Any newsdealer, newspaper or postmaster will receive your subscription, or you may mail it direct to

My Dear Friends—If our Spanish experience increase in interest for the next two weeks in the same proportion we shall need an ocean voyage to bring us down to ordinary life again. We are stranded here till 3 o'clock this afternoon when we go to Ronda. We hoped to get away at half past five this morning, but Prof. Powers could get no Spanish money yesterday either in Gibraltar or Algeciras. But let me begin where I left off yesterday. The sun came out in time for a clear landing. The lighter came from the main land and took us almost to the pier, then little steam launches came out and took us the rest of the way. There was quite a little motion but not enough for sea sickness. We were hardly on land before we realized that we were in the land of the British soldier, and near the land of the Moors. All afternoon we kept seeing handsome dark skinned men in white turbans and long draperies. We went to the galleries which are tunnels in the solid rock and were made during the great siege in 1782. It was interesting to see King St. Bell Lane and other names that meant English speaking people. The climb was made through narrow streets that were sometimes long series of steps. We went up to the Artillery Barracks where we all had to sign our names and wait for a soldier to conduct us through the galleries. There were numerous soldiers about waiting to change guard I think. They had fresh complexions and straight backs. Most of them had suits of linen-like material and very large white hats. The one who took us through was very fine looking. There are occasional openings through to the outside in which are placed cannon or rapid firing guns. Shot and balls are stored away and huge zinc reservoirs for water. The tunnels were chilly. We went through the lower ones. Special passes are required to admit one to the others where the newer guns are kept. There are three or four hundred batteries. The guns we saw are for saluting purposes merely. Some of the views from the openings were very fine. We could look down and see the British Cemetery, beyond it the neutral ground, a wide stretch of low sandy ground, and beyond a Spanish town with a huge round building which we were told was the bull-fight arena. There are six thousand soldiers stationed at Gibraltar. Our guide said his duty was to patrol the lower gallery at night, walking back and forth in the dark through those empty passages. At first Gibraltar was disappointing to me, but as I see it in different positions it is taking on the imposingness that it ought to have. We came down from the Galleries and took carriages and were driven past the house of the Governor, George White, who has been in Ladysmith fighting the Boers, then past the Roman Catholic church and through a double gate. Over one gate were the Spanish arms, over the other the English. Beyond the gates was a small parade ground, where twice a week parades are held, and the Alameda—the Gardens. There were geraniums, heliotrope, foliage plants and very fine cork trees with huge excrescences on the trunks. There were ornamental beds showing the Queen's initial, on one side of a bridge, and from the other side we looked down into a bed of plants that made two Maltese crosses, a key, three gates and a British flag. Boys selling huge fans with fancy bull-fight scenes on them ran along by the carriages.

We took a little steamer over from Gibraltar because we wanted to take an early train to-day and it would save time to be over here. There is no R. connection with Gibraltar. We shall change the plan and go to Seville to-morrow, instead of Granada, because the train goes only twice a week or perhaps three times to Madrid and we must get there at just such a time. It will be better to put the Alhambra at the end as a climax. You may thank the change of plan and this unavoidable wait for this letter which may be the only one from Spain. We sail from Gibraltar September 8th and expect to reach New York September 17th.

CLARA MAY.

In the Philippines.

DULAG, P. I., August 23, 1901.

Dear Mother—We left Manila on the 22d of May, arriving at Elevea at 7 o'clock next morning, where we were landed on a small tug boat to come here. The water was too shallow for the large boat. We arrived here on the 25th, and relieved Co. K, of the 43d Vol., which left for the States to be mustered out. This is a nice country here but the houses are all bamboo shacks. The natives are very friendly toward the Americans. There are a few insurgents in the mountains yet, but there is not much danger of them fighting us.

There are plenty of coconuts over here and bananas in abundance, and all we have to do when we want any of them is to get a picaniny to climb the trees and pick them. The natives are a very lazy class of people and will not work more than 2 or 3 days at a time, although they are getting five times the wages they were before the Americans came here. We have to guard government property where the natives are working the roads. We ride a patrol of 12 miles a day. There was quite an accident happened here on the 4th of July. Some of the boys went out with a small cannon and were loading it when it exploded, wounding several, and two of them seriously, one losing one leg and another both eyes and one arm. A detachment of our soldier, and near the land of the Moors. All afternoon we kept seeing handsome dark skinned men in white turbans deserted from the 43d Vol. about a year ago and has been with the insurgents ever since was captured by a detachment from Co. L, 11th Inf., about three weeks ago. He is now at Tacloban the headquarters of this regiment. I do not think we will be in the Islands more than a year and a half. I like the army very well. I haven't been sick a day since I enlisted, and I do not want you to worry about me. There is no postoffice here and I could not get any stamps any sooner or I would not have delayed writing so long. I hope to hear from you soon.

High Priced Goods are the Cheapest

For the consumer. I desire to call the attention of the public to the facts, as some people say my prices are high.

1st. Positively all the Highest Priced Goods I ever have sold have been the cheapest, and to the interest of my customers, more than any goods they ever used.

2d. It always pays to use High Priced Goods if you are sure you are getting them from a man that has learned his profession and will not misrepresent the goods.

3d. Any one with reasonable sense knows if you get real bargains in any line of trade you must know how to manufacture them.

4th. Be sure you are right and go ahead. My prices are as low as the same grade of goods that are sold any place. Everything guaranteed strictly as represented. The Old Reliable Saddle and Harness Shop at the New Union Market, Ironton, Mo.

It Happened In a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Gradin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." It is for sale by the Arcadia Valley Drug Co.

The increase in the number of males in the United States in comparison with the number of females, is as it should be. The increase of 13,233,631 in total population since 1890 is made up of 6,744,179 males and 6,489,452 females, an increase of 20.9 of males and 21.1 females. The males number 39,059,242 or 51.2 per cent. of the population in 1900.

A FACT ABOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered liver.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of
